Make a chart in D3 I realized that I needed to make a chart using d3, a data visualization programming language.

A beautiful flower

This photo I found of a dahlia online was the one I decided to trace for my second flower. I first tried to trace it in Photoshop using my tablet, but had not so good results. Then I printed it out black and white and used a light box to trace it with a ballpoint pen. I did two rounds of tracing, once for the outline, then another round for the detail line work.
